

Membership Application

The Home Builders Association of Greater Charlotte's Sales & Marketing Council is a membership forum for new home industry professionals who seek connection and support among their specific peers. Committed to the ongoing education and growth of its membership, the SMC provides a platform to connect and share ideas, knowledge, and resources. Our events, seminars and educational programs are designed to encourage individual excellence. Plus, membership in the Charlotte SMC includes automatic membership in the National Sales and Marketing Council.

We invite you to:

Connect with the most accomplished industry performers in our region and the country, and connect with mentors to help you achieve your personal best

Access expert information about the most innovative trends that are shaping home building today

Hone your professional skills through industry-specific educational platforms

Obtain valuable designations to leverage your success in the marketplace

Read the nationally published Sales and Marketing IDEAS Magazine, with content specific to the support and growth of sales and marketing professionals
